

Formwork in corporate colours

PRODUCT INFORMATION

PASCHAL system formwork in your corporate colours

Individual colour design of the formwork panels using the RAL colour system

On request, PASCHAL delivers its formwork panels not only in PASCHAL orange, but also in the colour requested by the respective principal, which is almost always a company colour. The colour selection is made according to the RAL colour system with its hundreds of matt and glossy shades. This means that virtually all company colours can be ordered.

Benefits

- Formwork panels in your corporate colours
- Marketing impact and high advertising effectiveness
- Choice of all colours in the RAL colour system
- Hot galvanising is also available on request

Marketing impact and high advertising effect

Company colours contribute significantly to the image of a company and are one of the most important marketing tools - also in the construction industry. What was initially only possible on large vehicles is increasingly being used on high-quality construction site equipment, especially concrete formwork.

With formwork in the company colour, you not only create a visual highlight, you also reduce the risk of confusion on the construction site.

An individual colour design is possible for formwork panels of LOGO.3 wall formwork, LOGO.alu wall formwork, NeoR lightweight formwork and TTR circular trapezoidal girder formwork.

Optimum corrosion protection with hot-dip galvanizing

In addition to the standard powder-coated version, the formwork elements are also available with a hot-dip galvanized surface. This guarantees optimum corrosion protection and an even longer service life even in the toughest applications.

Company colours contribute significantly to the image of a company and increase recognition.

In addition to the standard manufacturer colour orange, the PASCHAL formwork panels can be coated in any RAL colour.

Hot-dip galvanizing ensures optimal and lasting protection against corrosion.